On the Cover: The first Federal Duck Stamp by J.N. "Ding" Darling

On this, the 65th Anniversary of the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp (more popularly known as the Federal Duck Stamp), we remember the humble beginnings of the Migratory Bird Conservation Program with the first stamp issued in 1934. The story of the Federal Duck Stamp goes hand in hand with the history of protecting wetlands for migratory birds in the United States.

In the late 1800's and early 1900's the decline of waterfowl was accentuated by overeager hunters and the commercial demand for meat and feathers. The problem was compounded by periodic droughts that dried up the prairie pothole, northern bog and southern swamp waterfowl habitat. By the late 1920's, a number of conservationists, hunters and government officials had become alarmed at the prospect of losing some of our waterfowl species completely, and worked together toward enactment of the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of 1929. The Act authorized the Department of Agriculture to acquire and preserve wetlands for waterfowl. It established a Commission of Federal and State officials, today known as the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission, to evaluate land for possible acquisition.

Although enactment of the MBCA was a first step in securing habitat, it did not provide for a permanent source of funding for acquisition. This was soon corrected by Jay N. "Ding" Darling, a nationally known wildlife conservationist and political cartoonist for the Des Moines Register, who in 1935 was appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as Chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey (a predecessor to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service). "Ding" Darling had often put his artistic talents into biting cartoons depicting the destruction of the Nation's waterfowl and their habitats. He was instrumental in the conception and development of a stamp to be bought by all waterfowl hunters that would generate funds to pay for acquiring and preserving waterfowl habitat. In 1934 a new law was enacted, the Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp Act (more popularly known as the Duck Stamp Act), that requires all hunters 16 years or older to buy a stamp. The revenues are earmarked for the acquisition of migratory bird habitat.

The Federal Duck Stamp program has become one of the most popular and successful conservation programs ever initiated. Today more than 1.5 million stamps are sold each year. As of the end of Fiscal Year 2000, over 114 million Federal Duck Stamps were sold, generating over $595 million that was used to preserve more than 4 million acres of waterfowl habitat in the United States. Many of our more than 530 National Wildlife Refuges have been purchased with Duck Stamp money. In addition to waterfowl, numerous other birds, mammals, fish, reptiles, amphibians and plants have similarly prospered because of the habitat protection made possible by the Migratory Bird Program. The protected wetlands help dissipate storm runoff, purify water supplies, store flood water, and nourish fish fry and fingerlings. Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamps may be purchased from the Federal Duck Stamp Office in Washington, D.C., any first or second class U.S. Post Office, and many sporting goods stores and National Wildlife Refuges across the country.

Migratory Bird Conservation Fund

The Migratory Bird Conservation Fund provides the Department of the Interior with monies to acquire migratory bird habitat. There are four major sources of money for the Fund. The most well-known source is the revenue received from the sale of Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamps, commonly known as Duck Stamps, as provided for under the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp Act of March 18, 1934, as amended. The other three major sources include appropriations authorized by the Wetlands Loan Act of October 4, 1961, as amended; import duties collected on arms and ammunition; and receipts from the sale of refuge admission permits as provided for in the Emergency Wetlands Resources Act of 1986. The Fund is further supplemented by receipts from the sale of products from refuge lands and rights-of-ways across national wildlife refuges, the disposal of refuge lands, and reverted Federal Aid funds.

Two land acquisition programs are financed from the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund. The first involves the purchase of major areas for migratory birds under the authority of the Migratory Bird Conservation Act. Lands acquired through this program are considered and approved by the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission. The second program involves the acquisition of small natural wetlands and associated uplands located mainly in the Prairie Pothole Region of the upper Midwest. These lands, known as Waterfowl Production Areas, are acquired under the authority of the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp Act and do not require approval from the Commission.

During Fiscal Year 2000, the Department of the Interior obligated a total of $21,732,985 for the acquisition of land and interests in land totaling 38,184 acres in major migratory bird conservation areas. An additional $16,374,909 were obligated for projects in Waterfowl Production Areas totaling 82,890 acres.

A total of $59,528,584 was available for obligation from the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund during Fiscal Year 2000. Obligations for all Migratory Bird Conservation Fund land acquisition functions during the fiscal year totaled $48,028,972 ($1,074,166 of which was prior year recoveries). Total obligations equate to 81 percent of the available funds.

New National Wildlife Refuge Boundary Approvals

In Fiscal Year 2000, the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission approved the acquisition boundary of one new refuge, the Cat Island National Wildlife Refuge.

Cat Island National Wildlife Refuge West Feliciana Parish, Louisiana

The Cat Island National Wildlife Refuge is located in West Feliciana Parish, Louisiana on the Mississippi River approximately 20 miles northwest of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. The 36,500 acre refuge lies within a great bend in the river known locally as Cat Island or the Tunica Swamp. Cat Island is a peninsula of bottomland hardwoods, interspersed with several farmed tracts. The area is unusual in that it is one of the few natural areas along the river which still experience seasonal overflows. This section of the river has never been leveed and the area is considered a vestige of the past. Cat Island supports one of the highest densities of virgin bald cypress trees in the entire Mississippi River Valley.

Cat Island has been identified by the Fish and Wildlife Service as a priority waterfowl protection site and has a high incidence of waterfowl use. Cat Island swamps annually support as many as 25,000 wintering mallards, along with gadwalls, ring-necked ducks and green-winged teal – this despite hunting pressure and the absence of sanctuary. Shorebird and wading bird use is also outstanding. Acquisition of this refuge will contribute significantly to the recovery goals identified in the North American Waterfowl Management Plan and the Lower Mississippi River Joint Venture. The primary threat to this area is habitat destruction due to large-scale timber harvesting, subdividing and road construction.

Notes on Tables One and Two

The information contained in this report includes those acquisitions and dispositions of land and interests therein carried out under the authority of the Migratory Bird Conservation Act and funded from the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund, as well as those associated with other migratory bird areas (e.g., migratory bird areas transferred to the Fish and Wildlife Service under the authority of Public Law 80-537). Annual lease payments will appear in the Fiscal Year Cost Column 4, even though no new acres are leased (e.g., Browns Park, CO).

In an ongoing effort to improve data quality, the figures in Tables One and Two may show minor changes from previous annual reports. Lands previously leased may be purchased in fee during the year and the number of leased acres will show a decrease and the number of purchased acres an increase. The acreage appearing in the Approvals and Summary of Land Acquisitions sections of this report will not appear in Tables One or Two until after the tracts are acquired and the funds are actually expended. Also, a newly approved refuge will not appear on Table One until tracts are acquired using monies obligated from the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund or the Migratory Bird Conservation Act authority.

For information on all lands and interests under U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service control, refer to the “Annual Report of Lands Under Control of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.” This report can be obtained from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Division of Realty at <http://realty.fws.gov> or by calling (703) 358-1713.
